Task 1

Read the article. Choose from the sentences (A-G) the one which fits each gap (14-18). There are two extra sentences which you do not need to use.

- A This can make us compare the way we live to how other societies live.

- E This means that we need to act more quickly in order to see and reply to them.
- F Also, people are lonelier than they were in the past.
- G In fact, some people get bored if articles go on for too long.

Task 2

Read the article again and answer the questions in your own words.

- 19 What do people use social networks for?
- 20 How does the internet help if we want to visit other places?
- 21 Why isn't communication as personal as it was?
- 22 Does the article say we read more or less than in the past?
- 23 How will we get our news in the future?

Communication - now and tomorrow

More and more of us are using the internet and this means the way we communicate is very different now than in the past. Many people use social media networks nowadays. (14) But this is just one example of how the way we communicate is different because of the internet.

(15) We can share our lives with people all around the world. But what does this mean for communication? Well, we can find out about places we want to visit and what other cultures are like. (16) But it can also make the world feel smaller

One other change is that communication isn't as personal as it used to be. We used to spend time in face-to-face conversations where we had to answer immediately. Now, we spend more time texting and instant messaging. This does mean that we have time to think about our replies before we send them. If we don't want to reply to something immediately, we can leave it until later. But will this change in the future?

There are some apps, such as Snapchat, which can use to make messages that disappear after a short time. (17) These apps may become more popular in the future.

Another big difference is in the way we read. In the past, people regularly read newspaper articles which had thousands of words. Now, online news stories are a lot shorter. (18) It's possible that in the future, we will get most of our news from video reports, rather than articles, meaning that we won't have to read anything!

Task 1

Five young people all want to do something fun in their free time. Read the article and decide which activity would be the most suitable for each person. Match the descriptions of activities (A-H) with the people (9-13). There are three descriptions of activities which you do not need to use.

9 Fiona loves moving quickly. She wants to do an activity after 5pm and wants to learn something new.

10 Simon isn't very interested in doing sports. He enjoys being in the water and would like to spend time with his friends and relax.

11 Dan wants to do something in the afternoons because this is when he and his friends have spare time. He loves ball games.

12 Anna loves doing team sports and likes being outside. She wants to do a sport she can take her ten-year-old sister to.

13 Charlotte doesn't really like sports, but she loves adventure. She has been camping with her family five times and loves being outdoors.

Task 2

Read the article again. Decide which activity (A-H) mentions the following.

- 14 an activity with boats?
- 15 classes for different levels?
- 16 learning how to keep warm outside?
- 17 needing to use your strength?
- 18 something you could do with your parents?
