

Part 2*Questions 6-10

For each question, choose the correct answer.

The people below all want to learn a new language.
On the opposite page there are descriptions of eight language courses.
Decide which course would be the most suitable for the people below.

Tanya would like to learn an oriental language and know more about Asian culture. She can attend classes twice a week for up to six months. She enjoys learning in little groups and wants to get an end-course certificate.

7

Haruki's going to start an international high school in England. He studied Japanese at a junior high school but he needs to brush it up before the entrance test. He wants to improve his speaking and he'd prefer one-to-one lessons around lunch time.

8

Kate and her mother Lara are planning to learn a European foreign language in the same class. Lara is at school in the morning so she can only do an afternoon course. She would like to find email pen pals that she can visit in their country.

9

Rajani is fond of archaeology. He would like to learn Latin or Greek to help him improve his knowledge of past civilisations. He doesn't have much time so he is looking for an afternoon beginner course that will help him to read aloud real works from the classics.

10

Gabriel is a 16-year-old boy whose parents are planning a trip to the Far East next summer. He would like to learn an Asian language and he's looking for classes with people the same age as him. He also wants to learn how to write and read characters.

Language Courses

A Getting started on classical Greek

This 10-hour course is for first-time learners of Greek who would like to start studying a classical language. After learning about the main grammar and pronunciation rules of this language, students are offered the chance to put in some early practice. Every Monday from 5 to 7 p.m.

B Hebrew reading course

This intensive course will examine the history of this unique language from its early origins to its modern form as well as its influence on the Greek and Latin alphabets. You will also learn how to recognise the letters in ancient inscriptions and understand word structure. Lessons are three times a week from 8 to 10 a.m.

C Latin courses in Cambridge

Join our weekly morning classes, which run for 20 weeks over two terms: the classes are limited to a maximum of 12 students, to make sure every student gets the necessary attention to learn Latin. We offer courses at levels 1-3, suitable for both beginners and advanced Latin speakers.

D Mandarin classes at the 'Ni Hao Language Centre'

This school offers both one-on-one lessons or small classes for up to 3 times a week. In about half a year students can learn to speak Mandarin and get ready for the HSK national exam. We also provide a list of host families in China if you plan to travel there at the end of the course.

E Learning Japanese in England

This elementary-level Japanese course, consisting of 30 evening lessons over 15 weeks, is designed for people who want to learn basic everyday life expressions. Each lesson covers dialogues, vocabulary, grammar, quizzes and role plays. After completing this course, you will be able to talk about simple topics and know about Japanese culture.

F Intensive Japanese

Need to refresh your vocabulary and conversation skills in Japanese? Join our crash course for intermediate learners and improve your pronunciation with a personal mother-tongue tutor: in a fortnight you will be able to talk about a selection of topics from hobbies to schoolwork. Classes can be arranged to fit your schedules.

G Korean School of London

Our Korean language program includes both teenage and children courses every Thursday and Saturday morning from January to June. The classes will focus on speaking, listening and vocabulary exercises to provide everyday speaking skills, but teenage students will also learn to read and write a few characters.

H A taste of Sweden

This course is open to teenagers and adults who want to learn Swedish and join our 2-week exchange programme in Stockholm. Students will learn how to communicate with people in common everyday situations. Classes are from 3.30 to 5.00 p.m. every Thursday, but you can practise online with your host family in Sweden, too.
