III. Read the article about the bedrooms of three teenagers and then answer the questions.

My Bedroom

Robert

Robert likes his room to be tidy, but it's difficult as it's his brother's bedroom too. When Robert is alone in the room he does his homework or listens to music. On the walls there are a few small posters. Robert wants to have more, and to paint the walls yellow, but his mother doesn't agree. There are photographs of family holidays and of his sister's children. 'I like my room best when they're here. It gets untidy, but I don't mind.'

James

James's bedroom is painted in his favourite colour, yellow. He loves rugby, and there are several photos of him playing in the school team. 'After school I like to come up here to play computer games. My room's like my safe place. I can relax here.' James keeps his room tidy. His school work is on one shelf, and on another he has all his books.

Harry

'After school I come up here and chat to everyone I know on the computer,' says Harry. 'I never work in here - I study in the kitchen.' He has a big desk with a laptop in the middle, a PC on one side and a lamp on the other. On the walls there are two posters of his favourite tennis stars. 'I don't do much sport but I like watching tennis.'

IV. Choose suitable holiday destinations for people below.

1. Tomoko hasn't skied before and wants inexpensive lessons from a teacher who speaks Japanese or English. She'd like to stay somewhere where she doesn't have to cook for herself.

2. Alex and Helen are going skiing for the second time and would like a centre with easy skiing and interesting places to visit. They want to fly there and rent skis cheaply on arrival.

3. Matt and Martin are looking for some exciting skiing. They don't want to be with beginners or worry that there might not be enough snow. They like eating out in the evenings.

4. Isabel and her 14-year-old son, Juan, are expert skiers but her husband is a beginner. Juan would like to try other winter sports like snowboarding. They'll travel to the holiday centre by train.

5. Chris and his wife Jo are not keen skiers. They want to be able to relax in the sun and admire the beautiful scenery while their sons of 10 and 12 have skiing lessons.

A. Windy Pine

The ski and the snowboard runs here are high in the mountains so you can be sure of lots of good snow, but they are extremely challenging and only for the expert. Skiers can relax after dark in a number of small bars and restaurants. The airport is a two-hour bus ride away.

B. Ice Mountain

Come to this beautiful spot if you're new to the sport. Try out easy ski runs under the instruction of qualified teachers – their services are reasonably priced and many speak several languages including English. Classes are for adults only. Guesthouses provide accommodation with breakfast and evening meals. The centre is reached by train.

C. Eagle's Nest

There's skiing in this area for skiers of all abilities, with special classes for children, but snowboarders aren't welcome. Accommodation is in comfortable holiday apartments with balconies, where non-skiers can enjoy the fine weather surrounded by wonderful mountain views. There's a good bus service from the centre to the nearest train station.

D. Rose Valley

This area has much to offer, both to skiers with little or no experience and to those wanting challenging and exciting skiing. Ski instructors speak French and German. Some slopes are reserved for snowboarders. There's lively nightlife but the weather can be unreliable. Access to the area is by rail.

E. Fairview

This historic mountain town has much for visitors to see. The slopes don't attract expert skiers, but are suitable for those wishing to improve their basic skills. English speaking instructors charge a lot, but hiring equipment is very reasonable. This centre isn't recommended for children. The airport is nearby.

His teacher always reads his stories to the class. His friends also like his stories. Sometimes, they ask him to read to them. They like Henry's interesting stories.
- There is a library near my house. Many people go to the library. Some go there to borrow books, others read the books there. There are also people who watch videos at the library. The library is a quiet place. No one talks loudly at the library. Children are not allowed to run around in the library. They must sit quietly or they will be asked to leave. I like going to the library as it is a good place for me to do my homework and study. I also like to borrow many books from the library.

4. Pandas come from the mountains of China. They are black and white and have black patches on both their eyes. They are very good at climbing. The small pandas climb up bamboo trees as they love to eat bamboo shoots. The big pandas pull down the shoots as they are too heavy to climb the thin trees. They also eat small animals. In the zoos, pandas eat fruits. They are kept in enclosures that look like their homes in the mountains of China.
5. Mr. Lam and his family are moving to a new place. They already packed their belongings and are waiting for the movers to come and help them to transport the things to their new home. Finally, the movers come. They carry the things carefully onto the lorry at the car park. Then, they arrange the things neatly so that they will not move about when the lorry is moving. Finally, the lorry driver gets into the driver's seat and starts the lorry. Mr. Lam and his family get into the family car and drive to their new house.
6. "Look! There is a bird building a nest in that tree," said Ginny excitedly. Ginny and her friend, Nora, hid quietly behind a bush. They wanted to watch the bird building its nest and did not want to frighten it away. "Look at how fast it is weaving the straws into its nest," Nora said. "It is going to lay some eggs. Soon, we will see a few baby birds in that tree," Ginny said eagerly.
7. Last year, Chinese New Year fell on February. A few days before the New Year, Vincent and his family went shopping for new clothes and shoes. His mother bought some cloth to sew new curtains for their home. His sister helped their mother to bake cookies. On New Year's Eve, his mother cooked a lot of delicious food for the reunion dinner. That day, the whole family swept, mopped and cleaned the whole house. They also decorated the house beautifully.
