A question of love

One day last year, when I [1]____ a coffee with my friend Jack, I told him about an interesting study. A psychologist, Dr Arthur Aron, said that two people could fall in love by asking 36 questions.

Dr Aron tested this idea on a number of men and women who [2]____ know each other. They didn't all fall in love, but two of them later got married.

Jack and I decided to have dinner and ask each other the 36 questions, and so a few days later, we arranged to meet in a pub. I arrived a few minutes late, but Jack was waiting [3]____ me. We sat at a quiet table [4]____ the garden, and we each got out our piece of paper with the 36 questions.

We started with the easy questions, like 'When [5]____ you last sing to yourself?' [6]____ we asked questions [7]____ were a bit more interesting: 'In what three ways are you [8]____ each other?' Other questions asked what we thought about important things like relationships – for [9]____: 'How well do you get on with your mother?'

When we finished, we tried the last part of the experiment. We left the pub and [10]____ for a short walk along the river. Then we stood there, looking into each other's eyes, and we said nothing for four minutes.

So did it work? Well, yes, it did. And we are still very happy together.
