

LISTENING

Name:

- B Bunkitsu is a Japanese bookstore. Listen. How is Bunkitsu different than other bookstores? Circle your answers.

1. You can't _____ for free.
a. enter the bookstore b. browse magazines c. drink tea
2. The employees won't help you find a specific _____.
a. subject b. book c. magazine

WORD BANK

alphabetize arrange in order from A to Z

browse look over products casually (without buying them)

- C Listen again. Use the numbers in the box to complete the amounts. Then write the missing words.

20 30-40 200 1,500 30,000

1. _____ %: the amount _____ have declined in Japan
2. _____ yen: the _____ fee
3. _____: the number of _____ in the store
4. _____: the number of titles published every _____
5. _____ %: the percentage of customers who _____ something when visiting the store

- D Listen for context. Listen to the sentences. What do the underlined words refer to?

1. [They're] trying to change that negative trend.
- a. people buying books online b. bookstores closing in Tokyo c. bookstores opening in Tokyo
2. "By doing this, customers are often surprised to find new books."
- a. getting an employee to help b. buying new books c. browsing all the books in a section

- E Discuss the questions with a partner.

1. "A visit to Bunkitsu is about more than just shopping for a new book: it's about enjoying the bookstore experience." What do you think this means? Explain in your own words.
2. Would you pay money to go to a bookstore like Bunkitsu? Why or why not? What kind of store would you pay money to enter?

A bookshelf at Bunkitsu

