PROGRAMMING CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Read the clues and write the words in the crossword puzzle.

1. It is an errors occured when a program does not perform the way it was intended to.

2. It describes the idea of bundling data and methods that work on that data within one unit

3. Is an object-oriented programming concept that refers to the ability of a variable, function or object to take on multiple forms

4. Examples of programming language used in logic paradigm

5. Is a step by step instructions that transform from input into output to describe how a problem is solved

6. the property by virtue of which only the essential details are displayed to the user

7. Is a programming paradigm that is required to construct a basic calculator program that employs a sequential approach and invokes relevant functions tocalculate results.

8. Error that is detected by the compiler

9. It is a mechanism where you can derive a class from another class for a hierarchy of classes that share a set of attributes and methods

10. A step in problem solving that are not programming statements and thus are ignored by the compiler