Yesterday, my mum let me do the food shopping. She gave me a list and some money for everything. She also gave me £5 to buy what I wanted. 'Easy!' I thought. But shopping wasn't easy!
In the shop, there were a lot of people. There were also children – too many of them! They were very noisy! So I start with my mum wanted bread, biscuits, some sugar and some milk. However, I couldn't find a few things; for example, I couldn't find the biscuits. I looked for a long time. Then I asked a man and he showed me. I walked past the biscuits a lot of times, but I didn't see them! I found everything else on the list: orange juice, chocolate, soup and two kilos of apples. My mum's list said 'one kilo of apples' – oops!
After I bought everything on the list, I bought myself a magazine about motorbikes. It cost £2.99. I also bought some chocolate cake because my mum never lets me eat chocolate cake! It cost £1.99, so I didn't have a lot of money left! The hardest part was carrying everything home – it was heavy!
