

A Road Trip

A week ago, my family went on a trip. We drove on a long road in the mountains. My mother said: "The road is narrow and dangerous, so look out for other cars". Suddenly, it became cloudy and started to snow. The snow on the road quickly became ice. "I must stop driving", said my father. "I cannot control the car. We must get out". It was terrible! We got out of the car and stood on the road. There were no other cars. We were scared. Then I saw a jeep. We stopped it. There was a family in the jeep: a man, a woman and a baby. "Of course, we'll help you", said the woman. "But we can only take two people". They could take me and my sister, but what about our parents? "Don't worry", said the man. "I'll take you to your hotel and come back for your parents". And they did that! In three hours, we were drinking coffee in the hotel with our new friends: Ofir, Talia and their baby Yael. On the next day there was no snow, and we went home in our car. But we will always be friends with that wonderful family.
