

Comparatives and superlatives.

Yuki is a student from London living in Kyoto, Japan. She has always dreamed of learning Japanese in a traditional city. Yuki has noticed that Kyoto is _____(small) and _____(quiet) than Tokyo. Also, the streets of Kyoto are _____(clean) and more _____ (peace) than those of the big city.

Every morning, Yuki walks to her school, which is _____(close) to her apartment. She enjoys her classes. Her teacher, Ms. Tanaka, is the _____ (kind) and _____(patient) teacher she has ever met. Ms. Tanaka makes learning Japanese _____(easy) than Yuki had expected, but the grammar is still _____(hard) than English grammar. Kanjis are the _____(difficult) part, but Yuki knows that with practice, she will be able to learn them.

In the first few weeks, she went to explore the city. She thinks the Golden Pavilion is the _____(beautiful) temple in Kyoto. It is the _____ (shine) and _____ (elegant) than other temples she has seen so far from her trips. She also went to the Arashiyama Bamboo Grove, where she took of many photos and felt relaxed. Plus, she went to a small teahouse in the Gion district. The matcha tea there was the _____(good). It was sweet and creamy. She even tried wearing a Kimono, which was colorful and _____ (comfortable) than she imagined.
