A teacher once ¹ to me why it's important to understand how you learn. It's so that you can ² your studies better and you don't waste time on things that don't work for you. The best thing is to try different ways of learning. Ask your friends and other people on your course to ³ their study habits and ⁴ some ideas online. Then, try them all out yourself.

⁵ on which ones to use and which ones to forget. For example, try working in the mornings and in the evenings. Take regular breaks and do a bit of exercise. You can ⁶ some interesting things about yourself and ⁷ a learning system that works for you. Don't ⁸ things to change overnight, though. It takes time to really understand yourself.
