

Vocabulary training

Health

Match each question to its correct answer from the options provided.

1. Why did the doctor need to look at an X-ray of your arm? _____
2. Why didn't you come to school yesterday? _____
3. What are common symptoms of food poisoning? _____
4. What's the difference between having a cold and the flu? _____
5. What's a good way to relieve throat pain? _____
6. Tom, why have you been using crutches all week? _____
7. Why do you keep rubbing your eyes while reading? _____
8. Would you like to go out for a big meal right now? _____
9. Why are you holding your head and walking so slowly? _____
10. Are you feeling warm and comfortable, or is it the opposite? _____
11. Sophia, why have you been feeling so jet-lagged? _____
12. You just ran up the stairs—are you feeling fine? _____
13. Did the doctor prescribe you something to help with your infection? _____
14. Daniel, why is your thumb so swollen? _____
15. Are you feeling a little under the weather today? _____

- a) No, I'm completely puffed out—it'll take me a minute to recover.
- b) One is usually mild, while the other causes fever and body aches.
- c) No, I think I'll pass—I don't really have an appetite at the moment.
- d) No, actually, I can't stop shaking—I probably need a warm drink and a blanket.
- e) Drinking warm liquids, sucking on lozenges, and resting your voice can help.
- f) Yes, I was given a course of antibiotics to take for the next few days.
- g) My sleep cycle is completely messed up because of the time difference.
- h) I hit it during a match, and now I have a concussion.
- i) I injured my ankle badly while playing football, so I need extra support to walk.
- j) Yes, I don't feel my best today, so I think I need to take it easy.
- k) I had a high fever and a terrible headache, so I stayed in bed all day.
- l) I hit it against the door, and now it's twice as big as normal.
- m) He suspected a broken bone and needed a clear image to confirm the injury.
- n) I struggle to focus on small print because I have blurred vision.
- o) These include nausea, stomach cramps, vomiting, and diarrhea.