

Read the passage carefully. Then fill in each blank with one suitable word from the list below by dragging and dropping the text box to the blank.

or	people	know	care	who
different	together	proud	forget	parents
respect	as	families	advice	valued

Families in Korea

What is a family? What makes some (1) _____ different from others? What would the world be like if all families were the same? How does the fact that all of us come from different families make our class a more interesting place? How and why can it be challenging when you feel like your family is (2) _____ from your friends' families?

There are diversities of families around the world. A simple family can be made up of group of (3) _____ going through the world together. They are often adults and the children they (4) _____ for; a father, a mother and their children. A family can also be made of a single parent, either just a father (5) _____ a mother and their children. Some families are made up of parents and their adopted children.

It would be interesting for you to (6) _____ about the Korean sense of values in family relationship. The relationships within the family are the most highly (7) _____ in Korea. They have very strong bonds within their family. As a result, Koreans can be considered as one big family. Though each Korean has a very busy lifestyle, they try to come (8) _____ and enjoy each other as often as possible.

Traditionally, Koreans are (9) _____ of their good relationship among family members. They think that respect for the elder is the noblest attribute of Korean society. They (10) _____ the elders very much. Elderly people give advice to the younger generation. The younger people submit to the elder's wise (11) _____. Korean families are called a "small society." They feel a strong responsibility about bringing their home (12) _____ a part of the social educational centre. Family always comes first. Although the idea of economic growth brings family division, most Koreans do not (13) _____ that the family is the most important group for themselves as well as for the country. There are still many extended Korean families (14) _____ live with three generations. Many first born sons feel their responsibility of taking care of their parents. This is normal in any Asian families in Asian countries. Do you take care of your (15) _____?