Fill in the gaps with the appropriate form of the verbs in brackets Past Simple or Past Participle

A few of them (try) stupid mating attacks. But I (take) care of them.This boy, Charles Levy he was (suppose) to be the best.
I (have) his pieces tied up in 15 moves. I (mate) him in six more, with a knight-rook combination. Mr. Ganz (tell) me I (beat) them all in an hour and 20 minutes. It (feel) good. I've never (win) anything before.

- What's that game (call)?
- You should be upstairs with the others.
- I don't wanna be with the others.
- I wanna know what that is you're playing.
- It's (call) chess.
- Will you teach me?
- I don't play strangers.
- What are we (suppose) to do with her?
- They're sending someone.
- There's hardly a scratch on her. It's a goddamn miracle.
- I doubt she'll see it that way.
- .....
- You understand, dear, your mother's passed on? You know what that means, don't you?

wanna =

He has an unusual request to make. He would like you to be (take) to the high school on... On Thursday.

Elizabeth, nine years old, was left without family by the crash. Her mother, Alice Harmon, was (pronounce) dead at the scene.

Come on, let's get you (settle). We have 21 girls here, and they are all just as sweet as you.

I believe that we have chess sets in the game closet. I'll have Fergussen look into that.

- I like the way it feels.
- I bet you do.
- Just be careful, don't get too used to that feeling.

- You're gloating.
- I'm not.
- It was close.
- I still (beat) you.
- Could have (beat) me sooner.

I think, Elizabeth, you're going to find a much different life here. A better one than you might have (have).
