

RECIPROCAL PRONOUNS

1. Choose the correct reciprocal pronouns to complete the sentences below.

- Larry is my best friend. We trust ... completely.
A. each other B. one another
- Both of them are throwing the pillows on ... while playing.
A. each other B. one another
- The boats are striking ... because of the waves.
A. each other B. one another
- People around the world should respect ...
because we all have the same rights.
A. each other B. one another
- The teammates should learn to help ...
A. each other B. one another
- Tim and Alice love They have been in love for many years.
A. each other B. one another

Each Other

2. Complete the sentences with the appropriate reciprocal pronouns (each other / one another).

- After finishing their speeches, the students congratulated
- Alan and Samantha never agreed with when they had to go on holiday.
- "If we don't help every now and again, we won't survive," John said to George.
- The team members sent emails to communicate about the trip destination.
- The six friends buy sandwiches from time to time.
- Are Ann and Jeffrey married to?
- Sue and Lisa haven't seen for ages.
- I met my cousins Tom and Marion in November, but we haven't seen since Christmas.
- The whole class was silent. We all looked at and didn't understand anything.