

|               |                                                                                              |
|---------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1918          | He was born in Qunu.                                                                         |
| 1930          | His father died.                                                                             |
| 1. _____      | He went to university.                                                                       |
| 2. _____      | He joined the ANS (the African National Congress)                                            |
| 3. _____      | He became a lawyer.                                                                          |
| 1958          | He got married to his second wife, Winnie.                                                   |
| 4. _____      | He went to prison.                                                                           |
| 5. _____      | He was released from prison.                                                                 |
| 1994          | Blacks voted in an election for the first time.                                              |
| 6. _____      | He became president of South Africa.                                                         |
| 7. _____      | He retired.                                                                                  |
| 1999-8. _____ | He travelled around the world and raised money formedical research and health education. |
| 2004          | His eldest son died.                                                                         |
| 2013          | He died and was buried in Qunu.                                                              |