The text for number 6 – 10

Got some old books gathering dust on your shelves? Donating them is an awesome way to help out while clearing up some space. Instead of just sitting there, your books can become cool resources for schools, libraries, and community centers that could really use them. Plus, you'll be supporting literacy programs, which is pretty rad. And hey, it's good for the planet too! Donating means less waste and more recycling. Ready to do your part? Just go through your books, pick out the ones in good shape, find a local spot to donate them, and drop them off. Want to make it even cooler? Get your crew together for a book drive and spread the word on social media. Sharing is caring, right? Donating your old books not only helps others but also gives your favorites a new adventure in someone else's hands. Let's make a change, one book at a time!

6. What is one reason given for donating old books?

7. Who could benefit from donated books ?

8. What does donating old books support ?

9. How does donating old books contribute to helping the planet ?

10. What suggestion is made for making the donation process even cooler ?

Some children speak about environment. They give their opinion and say what they can or can't do to help protect the environment. Read the children's opinion carefully then decide the true or false statements by ticking (✓) the appropriate table !

Text A

Hi! I'm Ben. We live on a wonderful planet. It is full of life and many different animals and plants living on it. What is around us, is our environment. We can save the environment; it's not very difficult. We must stop using cars because they pollute the air. We mustn't burn the forests, we mustn't let water run, and we mustn't leave the lights on. How do I help ? I turn the lights and the electrical machines off when I don't need them. I walk or ride my bicycle for short distances. I have showers and not bubble baths. I don't light fires in the forest. I need my home, earth! Do you ?

Text B

My name is Sarah. Planet earth is a fantastic place to live on. We share our planet with the animals that live on it and the plants that grow on it we, the people are the most clever beings on earth but sometimes we don't act as that. We kill the animals, pollute the air and the water. We must stop because our planet will die. We must protect the environment. What can we do ? I don't throw garbage on the streets or on the beach; I always find a bin to throw my rubbish. I recycle paper, glass and aluminium. I teach my parents to be careful with energy. What can you do ?
