

A Life Full of Inspiring Experiences

1. Hi Katherine,

You know, living by (1) for my freshman year has been a little challenging. It is not comfortable doing things on my own all the time; I now realize how much my parents have always helped me.

This morning I got up at 6 o'clock. I had programmed the TV to turn on by (2) early since I needed to get ready for school. On my way, I saw a man whose car seemed to have a flat tire.

Although he looked old, he was changing the tire by (3) . I thought he needed some help, but I did not really offer to help him because I didn't want to arrive late. Instead, I just kept walking. When I got to school and headed to my classroom, I found out that Mrs. Dodson, our math teacher, was not there for the first class. She sent a message to the school direction explaining that she is normally picked up by a relative in his car. Yet, his relative could not make it on time because his car had a flat tire. Therefore, she would need to travel to school by (4) .

Since Mrs. Dodson did not arrive to class, my classmates and I had to work by (5) in order to fulfill an assignment she had sent. I think it wasn't easy for Mrs. Dodson to arrive to school since the students of the following class had to work by (6) too. Given that the task we were assigned was a little difficult, my classmates and I weren't able to complete it, and now we have to investigate and finish it for homework. Next time I have the chance to assist someone, I will do it; I might save some work myself too.

Well it's been a pleasure staying in touch with you; take care of (7) and keep in touch.

Best regards,

Eric.

Herself

Himself

Itself

Myself

Ourselves

Themselves

Yourself