Our first music concert!

I'm Sarah and I have always liked listening to music on my phone, especially to songs by Pink. She is my favourite singer because her songs are so cool, but I haven't seen her show yet.

Last week, it was my birthday. I turned 16! My sister's birthday is later in the month, on the 14th, but we didn't celebrate together. I got lots of presents from my friends and family, and I even had dinner with my family at an Italian restaurant. But the best present was two tickets to Pink's concert next month! I am so excited to go because it will be my first ever music concert. I asked my sister if she would like to go with me, but she is busy and can't come. I will go with my best friend Lily instead, because she loves Pink as much as me.

The concert is in London, so we will travel by train. We wanted to take the bus, but the journey is much longer than by train, and we wouldn't arrive at the concert on time. Then, we will have to travel on the subway, because London is such a big city. I don't know London very well, but Lily used to live there with her parents, so she can show us the way.

I think the concert starts at 6 o'clock in the evening on Saturday, so we will stay with Lily's older cousin until Sunday night. He is called Simon, and he lives in the centre of London with his wife and two children. His daughter, Katie, is the same age as me, so I am sure we will have fun spending time together on Sunday.

I already know what I will wear – my favourite dress and a pair of enormous sunglasses, which are pink. I also wanted to colour my hair pink for the concert, but my mum wouldn't let me. I was upset about this, but she explained that I was too young. I hope we will still have a great time and I am looking forward to it!
