

Lesson 2 Quantifiers

Use a/an, some, any and lots of to say how much of something there is. Nouns can be divided into countable (a banana, six eggs) or uncountable (some ice cream, some salad).

	Countable nouns	Uncountable nouns
Affirmative sentences	There's a banana . There are some eggs . There are lots of apples .	There's some salad . There's lots of ice cream .
Negative sentences	There aren't any grapes .	There isn't any lemonade .
Questions	Are there any kiwis ?	Is there any bread ?

Note: Use some in affirmative sentences. Use any in negative sentences and questions.

Write.

- There are some pancakes here.
- Is there _____ orange juice?
- I've got _____ nice, red apple.
- There's _____ milk in the fridge.
- There _____ any cold water.
- There aren't _____ bananas.

Lesson 4 Quantifiers

Use words like glass and slice to say how much of something there is.

a glass of milk	a bowl of rice	a slice of cake
a bottle of juice	a plate of chicken	a bag of sweets

Write.

1 _____ potatoes

2 _____ milk

3 _____ peas

4 _____ chips

5 _____ juice

6 _____ pizza