

Banking and Payments

Emma checked her _____ to see how much money is left in the account.

If you want to take out cash, you can use an _____.

I forgot my _____, so I couldn't pay with a card. I always forget the stupid number.

A _____ allows you to use the bank's money to pay for something.

Jack opened a _____ to keep his money safe and earn interest. He wants to buy a house in the future.

If you spend more money than you have left in your account, your account goes into _____.

A _____ shows all the transactions in your account for a specific period.

If you need cash, you can _____ money from your account, for example, through an ATM.

Sarah used her phone to check her account using _____.

He made a _____ of €500. He rarely puts this much money into his _____.

A _____ lets you pay for things directly from your bank account.

If you need to send money to another person, you can make a _____.

The bank approved his request for a car _____. Now he can finally buy the Bugatti.

Jerry has to visit the _____ to speak to his banker, Mr Richardson.