Question 28-32: Read the passage and choose the correct answer to each of the following questions.

You might think that there are no differences between the British and American people. After all, they speak the same language. But if you ask a British or an American, he will probably tell you that they are not all the same.

What do British people think Americans are like? The British think Americans are very strange. They make a lot of noise and they laugh too loudly. They are rich, and they only think about money. But the British do say that Americans are kind, friendly people. They are happy to help you if you are in trouble.

Then what do the Americans think of the British? They will think that the British are cold and reserved. They are not interested in success or in making lots of money. The British think Britain is the best country in the world. They look down on other countries. But Americans say that the British are quite hard workers. They are brave and honest. And in times of trouble, they face difficulties with great willpower.

So you can see that even though they speak the same language, they are different in some ways. But when an American and a British become friends, they usually find things are not as bad as they expected.
