About the Environment

Plastic pollution is a big problem for our planet. Every year, a lot of plastic waste goes into the oceans. This harms animals and makes the environment dirty. Some plastic, like bags and bottles, cannot break down easily. This is bad for nature.

One way we can help is by cleaning up beaches and other outdoor places. By picking up trash, we can stop it from polluting the water and hurting animals. When we go outside for activities like camping or rock climbing, we should also use insect repellent to avoid getting bitten by mosquitoes.

When we go camping, we need to bring a sleeping bag to sleep well. It is also important to use biodegradable products, like soap, because they are safe for nature. We should care about the melting ice cap because it shows that the climate is changing. We all need to help protect the Earth.

0. Plastic pollution is not a problem for our planet. No
