

Coffee Disaster

I usually ____ (have) coffee for breakfast. I ____ (wake up), ____ (brush) my teeth, and ____ (make) a big, hot cup of coffee. It ____ (smell) amazing and ____ (help) me feel awake. I ____ (drink) it slowly while I ____ (watch) the news or ____ (read) the newspaper. That ____ (be) my usual morning.

But yesterday, my morning ____ (be) different.

I ____ (wake up) late because I ____ (forget) to set my alarm. I ____ (run) to the kitchen and ____ (open) the cupboard – no coffee! I ____ (not believe) it. I always ____ (buy) coffee, but this time I ____ (forget). I ____ (feel) sleepy and sad.

So I ____ (make) a cup of tea. I ____ (not usually / like) tea, but I ____ (try) to be positive. I ____ (sit) down to drink it, and suddenly my phone ____ (ring). I ____ (jump), and the tea ____ (spill) all over my trousers! Now I ____ (have) brown stains on my favourite jeans.

Then, my cat ____ (walk) across the table and ____ (push) the empty cup on the floor. Crash! My favourite mug ____ (be) broken.

Now I always ____ (check) the cupboard before I go to bed. And I ____ (never / leave) tea near the cat!
