A Weekend in the Mountains

Last weekend, Julia and her family visited the mountains for a short holiday. They planned the trip a week before and prepared everything carefully. Julia packed her clothes, a notebook, and a pair of binoculars. On Saturday morning, they arrived at a small wooden cabin. It looked old but very cozy.

After lunch, Julia and her brother explored the area around the cabin. They climbed small hills, listened to the birds, and spotted a few squirrels. Julia sketched animals in her notebook and described what she saw. Her parents relaxed near the fire and talked about their childhood trips.

In the evening, they prepared a simple meal and shared stories by the fireplace. They played card games and laughed a lot. Later, Julia watched the moon through the cabin window and dreamed about becoming a nature explorer one day.

On Sunday morning, they cleaned the cabin, packed their things, and thanked the cabin owner. Julia hugged her parents and smiled, because she truly enjoyed the weekend away from the city.
