

Maggie: Hi Bill, what are you bringing to the Show and Tell class?

Bill: We have to show and talk about something from the past, don't we?

Maggie: That's right. You could bring that interesting camera that your dad has. It has a printer with it, doesn't it?

Bill: No, the camera itself prints the photos.

Maggie: Wow.

Bill: Okay, I'll bring it.

Maggie: My dad collects things too. He's got part of a dinosaur egg.

Bill: Can you bring it Maggie?

Maggie: Yes, if I were gloves when I show it.

Bill: Great. What's Anne bringing then?

Maggie: A newspaper printed the year she was born.

Bill: That's nice, but I prefer Jane's idea.

Maggie: Everyone writes a diary.

Bill: It's more interesting, as her mum wrote it at school.

Maggie: Okay then, what about Tania?

Bill: She'll bring an old comic book. Jane's mum has seen it, and she liked it a lot.

Maggie: Nice. Did you see the funny cartoon on the cover of Ian's record album?

Bill: No, I'll just have to wait and see it in class.
