

E-WRITING

I. Fill in the blanks with "which," "who," or "whose" to complete the sentences.

1. The restaurant _____ chef is well-known for his gourmet dishes is located downtown.
2. I need a guide _____ knows a lot about local history for my trip.
3. Can you recommend a museum _____ exhibits are fascinating and informative?
4. The hotel _____ staff were very friendly made our stay memorable.
5. I'm looking for a bookstore _____ carries rare and antique books.
6. The café _____ pastries are delicious is a popular spot among locals.
7. Do you know of a park _____ has great jogging paths and beautiful scenery?
8. Can you suggest a tour guide _____ speaks multiple languages fluently?
9. I need a travel agency _____ offers customized tours to exotic locations.
10. The theater _____ plays are critically acclaimed is located in the city center

II. Reported speech (Yes/no question)

1: "Have you finished your project yet?" the teacher asked.

2: Linda: "Do you plan to visit the art exhibition this weekend, Sam?"

3: "Can you explain this problem to me?" he asked.

4: "Have you ever been to Japan?" she asked.

5: "Did you hear the news about the accident?" he asked.

6: Bob: "Will you join the basketball team this year, Kevin?"

7. Helen asked the child, "Are you going to visit your uncle tomorrow ?"

8. My mother said to my sister, "Do you want to go shopping with me this afternoon ?"

9. "Can you lend me some money to buy this book, please Nam ?", Uyen asked.

10. Are you coming to the party tonight, Ha?" she asked

1. He asked if I could explain the problem to him.

2. She asked if I had ever been to Japan.