Food Waste

Food waste is a big problem all over the world. Lots of food is thrown away by families, restaurants, and shops every day. This wasted food could feed many people who are hungry.

Fruits and vegetables that don't look perfect are often rejected by supermarkets. Sometimes, too much food is cooked and then not eaten. Leftovers are sometimes forgotten in the fridge and then go bad.

It's important to reduce food waste. We can buy only what we need and eat our leftovers. Food that is still good can be donated to food banks. By wasting less food, we can help the planet and other people.
