When I was younger, I went to the park with my friends almost every weekend. One day, we found a small tree that had fallen down. We all got excited and decided to build a small house with the tree branches. I cut the branches with a small knife. I accidentally hurt my finger while I was cutting the branches, but it wasn't serious. I put a bandage on it and kept working. Later, we met a family who had come to the park. We gave them some cookies that we had made earlier. We also ate lunch together by the lake. After we finished, we drank some juice, and I fell into the lake by accident! It was so funny, but I was a little cold. My friends laughed and helped me out. After that, we all had a great time playing games, and I became the hero of the day!
