My favourite sport

Amina
When we moved to this town, I asked my parents about finding a running club. Although you can run alone, joining a club is good for meeting new people, and that's what I wanted to do. So Mum found a club at the sports centre. It's too far to walk there, so we catch the tram. Mum's not a runner, so she goes to a café while I run, but she came to watch me race last month.

Mai
The town where I live has really good activities for people my age. The old bus station's now a skateboarding park, and it's right by my house. It's not surprising I began skateboarding almost as soon as I could walk. I love it that my cousin comes with me – we're always trying to jump higher than each other because we both want to be the best!

Kate
I'm sure swimming is something I'll enjoy doing for the rest of my life. I mean, I often see grandparents in the pool with their little grandchildren! I usually go twice a week, although when I'm getting ready for a race, like I am at the moment, I go more often. It's just round the corner from home. My best friend sometimes comes with me, but I usually swim on my own. You can't talk much when you're swimming anyway, can you?

Part 6

Questions 30–34

Read the text and questions below.
For each question, circle the correct letter A, B or C.

My theatre club

12-year-old Aisha tells us about being in a theatre club

I knew about my local theatre club from posters around town, and also my friend was a member. She really liked it, but I wasn't sure about joining because I'm shy. Then my teacher said I should go, because he wanted to help me with that, and I loved it!

My theatre club meets weekly. First of all, we get into groups of three, and read plays out together. That's OK, but the most helpful thing is when we do songs together to get us ready for acting. We sometimes try new games – that's quite fun, but we don't often have time.

Our acting teacher's given us advice, like explaining how watching successful actors can help us improve. It's not possible to see them at the theatre all the time, but there are lots of films to watch, of course. She's also reminded us about practising in front of people, instead of by ourselves!

In our next meeting, a well-known actor called Joan Dawson is going to help us with the characters in a play called Surprise Party. It's an old play, but we've never performed it before. Joan's been in many plays and films, and her last film was about young actors like us!

We're doing Surprise Party soon. Everyone's friends will be there, so the theatre should be full. I'm on stage the whole time unfortunately, so I'm not sure I'll be able to remember all the words. My friends keep saying I'll be fine – I hope they're right.
