

- She can't be at home now, she has just sent me a text from school.
- He might be someone we met at the conference, he looks very familiar.
- You can't have seen Jane at the party yesterday simply because she was never there.
- They must have forgotten about the meeting.
- He can't have slept well last night since it was so loud.
- The shop can't be open yet.
- You can't have heard the doorbell, obviously. No one has heard it.
- It must have rained earlier. Look at the porch!
- She can't be the new manager. She's only a junior salesman.
- They might be planning a surprise. Maybe they remember about your birthday after all. Who knows!
- He can't have seen the speed limit sign. It was clearly hidden in the bushes and trees and I'm sure it was done on purpose!