Chapter 14: The Grateful Crane

Fill in the blanks

1. The old man found the snow crane trapped in a _____ in the snowy field.
2. The crane's wings were described as _____ and _____, with a distinctive red beak.
3. When the old man freed the crane, it circled above him and cried "_____" before flying away.
4. The young girl appeared at the couple's door during a _____, pleading for shelter from the cold.
5. To repay the couple, the girl wove magical cloth using _____ from her own body.
6. The girl made the old couple promise not to _____ while she worked in the storeroom.
7. The old man sold the silk cloth in town, singing that it was fit for a _____ and a _____.
8. The old woman broke the promise by peeking through a _____ in the storeroom window.
9. When the crane-girl left, she promised to visit once a year by _____ over their cottage.
10. The story's moral emphasizes the consequences of broken _____ and the value of _____.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Multiple Choice Questions

1. Why did the crane transform into a human girl instead of repaying the old man in her animal form?

a) To test if humans would recognize her true identity

b) Because only humans can weave silk cloth

c) To provide companionship to the lonely couple

d) To teach the couple that kindness crosses species boundaries

2. What does the loom symbolize in the story?

a) The pain of sacrifice hidden behind beauty

b) The cycle of life and death

c) The connection between nature and human industry

d) The old couple's poverty

3. How does the old woman's curiosity differ from the old man's obedience?

a) She represents human weakness; he represents wisdom

b) She seeks truth, while he values trust

c) Her curiosity is selfish; his obedience is fearful

d) Both are equally flawed

4. Why did the crane forbid the couple from watching her weave?

a) The magic required secrecy

b) To test their self-control

c) To protect them from guilt over her sacrifice

d) The process was too violent to witness

5. What literary device is used when the crane's wings "shone like snow crystals"?

LIVEWORKSHEETS

a) Metaphor

b) Personification

c) Simile

d) Hyperbole

6. How does the story's snowy setting contribute to its themes?

a) It mirrors the coldness of human ingratitude

b) It contrasts the warmth of the crane's kindness

c) It symbolizes life's hardships

d) It foreshadows the crane's disappearance

7. What does the crane's final promise ("I'll fly over your cottage yearly") suggest?

a) She regrets helping humans

b) Her gratitude is eternal but distant

c) The couple will see her true form again

d) She punishes them with fleeting visits

8. Why did the old man sing about the silk being "fit for a queen"?

a) To attract wealthy buyers

b) To honor the crane's royal nature

c) To exaggerate the cloth's value

d) To mock human vanity

9. Which theme is MOST emphasized by the crane's departure?

a) Nature is superior to human industry

b) Sacrifice should be secret

c) Loneliness is inevitable

LIVEWORKSHEETS

d) Trust once broken cannot be repaired

10. How might the story differ if the couple had kept their promise?

a) The crane would have stayed forever

b) The magic would have continued indefinitely

c) The couple would never have known her truth

d) All of the above

LIVEWORKSHEETS