- B. complain about the teacher.
- C. recommend a Spanish course.

When Ben came on stage the crowd erupted into cheers and applause. The concert had sold out, which made the atmosphere even more exciting. The use of lights and smoke added to this, as well as the use of videos on big screens behind him. He played songs from his album as well as new tracks which not many people had heard before. The album tracks made the audience sing along, which is something I love about concerts – it is so different from listening to the album at home.

7.3. The author of this text is

- A. informing people about his/her plans.
- B. sharing his/her negative opinion.
- C. describing his/her experience.

AN IMPORTANT PERSON

Simon's family moved in just a few houses down from us when I was about ten, and I still remember how excited I felt when I found out there was another boy living on our street. The other children were all girls. We were good friends from the beginning because we were into the same things: computers and football, mostly. In fact, we had quite a few of the same hobbies for a while. I remember making lots of models of aeroplanes one year. Another year we took up fishing. We had all the equipment and everything and we spent ages down by the river. I never go fishing now. His family moved away a couple of years ago. We're still friends on Facebook but we don't really have much contact.

7.4. From the text we learn that

- A. Simon has always had only one hobby.
- B. Simon used to be the author's close friend.
- C. the author is a girl.

HOME COMFORTS

I'm studying in France and it is the first time that I have been separated from my family and away from my house for many months. It has been very rewarding to be independent. But I have also realised that there are many things from home which I miss. 8.1. ____ I know, it's bit strange, isn't it? The thing is, I find it very comforting to have a hot drink from my favourite mug. Another thing I miss is having books to read. Of course, there's plenty to read on the internet. 8.2. ____ Sadly, they are big and heavy, so I couldn't fit any in my suitcase when I came to France. The final thing I miss is having carpet. 8.3. ____ As a result, my feet are always freezing, so I have to wear slippers all the time! There is a saying, "you don't know what you've got until it's gone". From my experience, I've found this to be true. Some of the smallest things in life are the things you miss the most. Being away from home has taught me to appreciate them!

adapted from <https://learnenglishteens.britishcouncil.org>

- A. But some days I would just like to feel the texture of the paper and the weight of a good book in my hands.
- B. That's why I decided not to take any of my favourite mugs from my home.
- C. My house in France has a wooden floor which is easy to clean, but it gets very cold.
- D. One of the home comforts I miss the most is the mugs at my house.

SUMMER IN GREAT BRITAIN

A.

Britain is well known for its rainy climate. People joke that even in the summer time the country never gets any sun and that the skies stay grey even in July and August. Last summer though, it was so hot that people could hardly believe it. British people weren't used to such high temperatures, so every day on the news there were stories about people finding it hard to work in such unusual weather conditions.

B.

When the sun comes out, British people tend to spend time in their garden, if they have one. It's common to invite friends and neighbours round for a barbecue, where everyone sits outside and eats food like grilled meat and salads. There's always a back-up plan in case of rain though and the meal sometimes has to be cooked in the kitchen and eaten indoors.

C.

People also spend a lot of time in parks during the summer, having picnics or playing football or frisbee. In every green area, there's always at least one ice cream van. Towns like Blackpool and Brighton are popular for their beaches. People go there to swim, sunbathe, and eat fish and chips. However, the water can be quite cold so quite a lot of Brits prefer to go abroad for their summer holiday instead. Popular destinations include Spain, Germany and France: all countries that promise a lot of sunshine!

CHOOSING A MUSICAL INSTRUMENT

A lot of people would like to learn how to play a musical instrument, but they are put off by a big problem: what instrument to play? Here are a few questions to think about before you decide.

Do you want to play with other people?

If you want to play with other people, choose an instrument which would be the most practical. If you want to play rock music, there will always be a demand for bass players or drummers, and if you fancy being part of an orchestra, the bassoon is a great instrument to make sure you will always have a job.

Where are you going to practise?

If you live in a block of flats, practicing the drums, for example, will drive your neighbours crazy. However, electric versions of instruments like the piano, drums, guitar and even violin give you the option of playing at night using headphones, while your housemates sleep in peace.

How much money can you spend?

A lot of instruments, for example guitars, can be bought in different price ranges. But this doesn't change the fact that many, such as the piano, are always pretty expensive. If you can't afford your chosen instrument, will you be able to borrow someone else's or hire one?

Still not sure?

Talk to people you know who already play musical instruments. They might even let you try theirs. It's also a good idea to find an experienced music teacher, who can give you some advice. Good luck with making your choice!
