Chapter 12: The Laziest King

Fill in the blanks

1. King Tadashi was known as the world's _____ king.
2. Tadashi's bed had six pillows filled with _____ from specially bred birds.
3. The king's lands were so fertile that a dropped apple seed would grow into _____.
4. Count Dag coated his soldiers and horses with _____ to make them smell fierce.
5. James John stuffed Tadashi's armor with _____ to make it look like the king was standing guard.
6. The battle lasted from night until almost _____.
7. Tadashi's subjects cheered "_____" when they defeated Count Dag's army.
8. When Tadashi woke up, he thought the battle was just a _____.
9. James John was nearly _____ tall, which was unusual for that time.
10. The chapter ends with Tadashi going back to sleep until _____.

Choose the correct meaning for each word

1. The king's quiescent nature was evident in his tendency to sleep excessively. What does "quiescent" mean?

a) Restlessly energetic and unable to relax

b) In a state of tranquil inactivity or dormancy

c) Pretending to sleep to avoid responsibilities

d) Suffering from a medical sleep disorder

2. Count Dag's army was malodorous due to the skunk cabbage coating. What does "malodorous" imply?

a) Gleaming menacingly in the darkness

b) Moving with synchronized precision

c) Emitting an extremely unpleasant smell

LIVEWORKSHEETS

d) Heavily armored for maximum protection

3. James John demonstrated sagacity by devising the armor trick. What does "sagacity" mean?

a) Physical strength in battle
b) Blind loyalty to authority
c) Artistic creativity in problem-solving
d) Keen mental discernment and shrewdness

4. The opulent castle had fresh flowers in every room daily. What characterizes something as "opulent"?

a) Luxuriously rich and lavish in appearance
b) Strategically designed for military defense
c) Minimalist and functionally austere
d) Ancient and historically significant

5. Tadashi's subjects showed fealty despite his laziness. What does "fealty" entail?

a) Reluctant obedience under threat
b) A theatrical display of exaggerated respect
c) Fierce loyalty owed to a rightful leader
d) Periodic rebellion against authority

Multiple Choice Questions

1. What motivated Count Dag to attack King Tadashi's kingdom?

a) Personal revenge for a past insult from Tadashi that damaged his honor
b) Religious differences over the proper way to maintain royal gardens

LIVEWORKSHEETS

c) Jealousy of Tadashi's prosperous lands and luxurious lifestyle

d) A prophecy warning that Tadashi would eventually conquer his lands

2. How did James John's physical appearance contribute to his role?

a) His short stature allowed him to move unseen through the castle

b) His six-foot height made him intimidating as a warrior

c) His resemblance to Tadashi enabled him to impersonate the king

d) His frail build made the armor trick more believable

3. What literary device is most prominent in describing Tadashi's bed?

a) Hyperbole - exaggerating its comfort and luxury

b) Metaphor - comparing it to a royal throne

c) Onomatopoeia - mimicking sleeping sounds

d) Flashback - recalling its creation story

4. Why did the skunk cabbage serve as an effective weapon?

a) Its smell demoralized enemies by triggering memories of poverty

b) Its toxic properties physically weakened opposing soldiers

c) Its unpleasant odor created a psychological advantage

d) Its sticky texture made weapons hard to hold

5. What does the sentry's reaction reveal about Count Dag's reputation?

a) His distinctive smell preceded his military forces

b) His attacks were predictable seasonal occurrences

c) He always sent spies ahead of his main army

d) He was known for targeting royal gardens specifically

LIVEWORKSHEETS

6. How did the pillow-stuffed armor psychologically affect Tadashi's subjects?

a) It made them question their own perception of reality
b) It provided comforting familiarity during chaos
c) It symbolized their king's invisible spiritual presence
d) It created an illusion of leadership and stability

7. What makes Tadashi's final dialogue about his dream ironic?

a) He accurately describes events he supposedly slept through
b) He attributes James John's cleverness to his own subconscious
c) He mistakes reality for fantasy due to his sleep addiction
d) He unknowingly reveals secret knowledge of the battle

8. Which theme is best supported by the subjects' victory?

a) Appearance can be more powerful than reality
b) Laziness inspires creative problem-solving
c) Natural leadership cannot be faked
d) Teamwork overcomes individual weakness

9. What does the story suggest about effective leadership?

a) Strict discipline creates the strongest armies
b) Wealth automatically commands respect
c) Intelligence must be paired with vigilance
d) Physical presence is less important than earned loyalty

10. How does the narrative structure contribute to the humor?

a) By contrasting grandiose battle scenes with Tadashi's indifference
b) Through repetitive descriptions of the king's sleeping habits

LIVEWORKSHEETS

c) Using the villain's perspective to mock the hero

d) Employing rhyming couplets during tense moments

LIVEWORKSHEETS