Do computers have personalities?

Think about your computer or your mobile phone. It is definitely 'clever' in some ways, but it doesn't feel sad when you (1) _____ it off. It doesn't (2) _____ forward to you using it. It can't feel any emotions when you start using it. In other words, it doesn't have a (3) _____. Humans have 'consciousness'. This (4) _____ that we can think and feel, but what about computers?

Scientists are looking into this, and (5) _____ think that technology can become 'conscious'. They say: 'Maybe the internet can already think. How would we know?' (6) _____ believe that only things that are alive can have consciousness.

In the future, if our computers turn into conscious machines, will they end up being more creative than humans? No one knows. But it makes you think, doesn't it?
