PASSAGE 57

Tra ID Đề [5982] o Tra ID Video [5983]

People today have many choices for leisure activities. Watching TV is the most popular way to relax in Britain. The average person watches a few hours of TV every day. Many people enjoy soap operas and news programs, often watching the news while eating dinner or before bed.

Collecting things is also a common hobby in Britain. Many people collect stamps, and some collect specific types, like animal stamps or stamps from certain countries. Other collectors enjoy matchboxes, dolls, and toys from fast-food restaurants. Some see collecting as an investment because some items can be worth a lot of money.

Playing sports is popular too. Many British people love football (soccer), rugby, cricket, and tennis. While few play at a high level, many play just for fun.

Socialising with friends is another way British people enjoy their free time. They often go to pubs or coffee shops to talk and have fun. Contrary to popular belief, British people are friendly and enjoy meeting new people who share their interests.

Question 1: What do many people in Britain often do while watching the news?

A. Read books B. Eat dinner C. Play sports D. Go to the pub

Question 2: Why do some people see collecting as an investment?

A. Because it is a fun activity.

B. Because some items can be worth a lot of money.

C. Because it requires a lot of time.

D. Because it is easy to find items.

Question 3: Which of the following best paraphrases the underlined sentence in the last paragraph?

A. Many think British people are unfriendly, but they enjoy meeting others.

B. It is believed that British people are unfriendly, but they prefer to be alone.

C. Some believe British individuals are cold, but they enjoy being with others.

D. Many think British people are shy and avoid socializing.

Question 4: What can be inferred from the passage about leisure activities in Britain?

A. British people prefer to spend their free time alone rather than with others.

B. Many British people are unfriendly and dislike socializing with new individuals.

C. Sports are the only way British people socialize and enjoy their leisure time.

D. Collecting items is seen as a popular hobby and a way to connect with others.

Question 5: What is the main idea of the passage?

A. Why leisure activities are famous in Britain.

B. How British spend their leisure time.

C. The most popular hobbies at work.

D. Sports are more important than socializing for British people.

LIVEWORKSHEETS