Part 4: Read the following passage and write/mark A, B, C, or D. (1.0 point)*Healthy Lifestyle Tips for Teens

Getting enough sleep is crucial for growing bodies and minds. It may sound simple, but teens' natural body clocks often keep them up later at night and make them want to sleep in longer in the morning. To help reduce anxiety, clear toxins from the brain, and make better decisions, it's important for teens to get 8-10 hours of sleep each night.

Find a healthy interest that excites you - whether it's a sport, hobby, or other activity - and work it into your routine. Set both short- and long-term goals, and go for them!

Our brains require a lot of energy to function, using about 20% of the nutrients we consume. If you've developed some unhealthy eating habits, it's not too late to make a change! Start small and research areas where you can improve - such as drinking more water, cutting back on processed foods, eating more fruits and vegetables, and avoiding saturated fats and added sugar.

Make a conscious effort to stay active every day! Studies show that exercise is an effective way to manage anxiety and depression. It can also lower the risk of disease, boost concentration and confidence, and reduce aggression.

Find an activity that calms you and helps clear your mind, and make it a daily practice. Whether it's sitting quietly, doing yoga or pilates, or listening to music, it's essential to address negativity or stress and open your mind to a fresh start each day.

Both of my parents love travelling, and they usually take us along. My mum told me that I started travelling with them when I was just four months old. Every year my family goes on different trips from 2 days to 2 weeks. We normally don't stay in resorts. Instead we stay at homestays where we can get to know more about the life and culture of the people in those areas. We eat with them, watch them cook, and go hiking with them.

Sometimes we go abroad for our holidays. I still remember when I went to Disneyland in Hong Kong and later visited the Taronga Zoo in Sydney. I will never forget the moment seagulls took some snacks from my hands when we were sitting outside the Sydney Opera House.
