Space tourism is becoming more popular, but it also raises many questions. Some people believe it is an exciting way to develop space travel, while others think it is only for the rich.

In the past, only a few private individuals travelled to space. However, today, companies like SpaceX, Blue Origin, and Virgin Galactic offer different space experiences. Some trips last a few minutes, while others take people to orbit for several days. Supporters say space tourism helps science because tourists can test the effects of space on people and materials. It also brings money into the space industry, helping companies develop better technology. Famous people, like William Shatner, have travelled to space, making more people interested in space travel.

However, critics argue that space tourism is too expensive, costing hundreds of thousands or even millions of dollars per trip. Most people will never afford it, so they see little value in it. Some say it does not truly help space exploration because astronauts can already do the same experiments. Others believe it is a small business that will never become important.

Although space tourism is growing, it will likely remain an activity for the wealthy. It may not change the future of space travel, but for those who can afford it, it is an unforgettable experience.

31. What is the main idea of the text?

- A. Space tourism is a growing industry, but it may remain only for the rich.

- A. a trip deep into space
- B. a short trip in space
- C. a path around a planet
- D. a journey to the Moon

34. Why do supporters believe space tourism is useful?

- A. It gives tourists a chance to travel for free.
- B. It allows people to visit other planets.
- C. It supports science and space technology.
- D. It makes it easier for astronauts to train for missions.

35. What is one reason critics say space tourism is not valuable?

- A. Most space tourists prefer suborbital trips over longer missions.
- B. Astronauts can already do similar scientific experiments.
- C. Space tourism is only available for scientists and engineers.

Google Maps is a popular tool that helps people find locations, get directions, and explore places. It provides detailed maps, road layouts, and city locations. (37) _____. The Street View feature allows people to see houses, shops, and landmarks from a street-level view.

One major advantage of Google Maps is its transportation options. It provides directions for driving, walking, biking, and public transport. (38) _____. For longer trips, Google Maps also shows airline details, such as ticket prices and flight carriers. Another benefit is the ability to share locations with friends and family. (39) _____. The Street View feature builds trust, allowing people to see a business before visiting. However, Google Maps has some disadvantages. Sometimes information is incorrect, especially in remote areas. The app may not show closed roads or construction in real time. Another issue is security. (40) _____. Additionally, inappropriate public contributions can appear on the platform.

Despite these issues, Google Maps remains an important tool for navigation and business promotion.

- A. Criminals have used Street View to identify easy targets for theft.
- B. Users can see satellite images and even look inside airports and museums with indoor maps.
- C. In many cities, it includes bus and train schedules with stop numbers and transfer points.
- D. Businesses also use Google Maps to help customers find their stores.
