Sapa, located in the northern mountains of Vietnam, is one of the most picturesque places in the country. It is known for its cool climate, terraced rice fields, and beautiful valleys. The town is home to many ethnic minority groups, such as the H'Mong and Dao people, who still follow traditional ways of life.

Unlike Vietnam's tropical beaches, Sapa offers visitors a different experience with its misty mountains and fresh air. Trekking is the most popular activity, as tourists can hike through the hills and visit remote villages. In the winter, Sapa sometimes even experiences snowfall, making it a rare sight in Vietnam.
