A Day at the Leisure Park

Last Saturday, we finally to the leisure park, just like I had hoped. It was one of the days I have had this year. We there early and to start with the roller coaster. It looked scary, but it amazing once it . I even screamed than I ever before!

After that, we from ride to ride. The water slide was definitely than I expected, and the spinning ride us laugh until our stomachs . We also the churros I have ever tasted—much than the ones at the beach last year.

The weather stayed perfect all day, and the park was and than other parks I have visited. In the evening, we watched a firework show that us away. It was the show I have seen in a long time.

Looking back, I think we made the right choice.

The beach is relaxing, but this day us more and fun.

I definitely love to repeat the experience next summer!
