3 AT THE RESTAURANT!

We are going to read the following dialogue. The costumer's answers contain mistakes. Can you identify them and give an answer that you consider correct?

WAITER/WAITRESS	CUSTOMER
Welcome to All Stars Restaurant. How many tables do you need?	One table for eight persons.
Great! Follow me... Let me look for a few menus and a little of bread.	OK. How many time do we have to wait?
Here you have...it may t ake some time to get your food because we are full. May I take your order?	Well, tell me how much the red wine. Pasta for main course.
The red wine is 9 dollars. I will ask if we have any bottles left. Anything else you need?	Yes, add a lots of grated cheese to the pasta.
Fantastic! Wait here a few minutes and I will bring your drinks!	OK.
Here you have your drinks... The chef says your order won't take much time. I will be right back.	I hope so.

Now, let's practice your version of the dialogue with some answers given by you. Practice intonation for questions and staments.

Welcome to All Stars Restaurant. How many tables do you need?

We need one table for two, please.

Great! Follow me... Let me look for a few menus and a little of bread.

Thank you! We can wait for you.

Here you have... May I take your order? By the way, it may take some time to get your food because we are full.

Ok, we could begin with french fries and then, two pizzas. A margarita pizza and another with ham for her, please. We'd like some beer. How much for the beer?

The beer is 3 dollars each. Let me ask for you what types of beer we have. Anything else you need?

No, it's ok! Thank you.

Fantastic! Wait here a few minutes and I will bring your drinks!
