

Read the text. Answer the questions:
True or False.

Italian and French Food

Italian and French cuisines are two of the most famous in the world.

Italian food is known for its fresh ingredients, simple recipes, and delicious taste. Pasta, pizza, and risotto are popular Italian dishes. Italians often use tomatoes, olive oil, garlic, and herbs like basil and oregano. A famous Italian dessert is tiramisu, made with coffee, cream, and cocoa powder.

French food is more complex and elegant. French chefs often use sauces, butter, and wine to prepare their meals. Some famous French dishes are croissants, ratatouille, and coq au vin. French people also love cheese. France has more than 400 types of cheese! For dessert, they often enjoy crème brûlée or macarons.

Both cuisines are unique, tasty, and loved around the world.

True (T) or False (F) Tasks

1. Italian food is famous for being spicy.
2. Pizza is an Italian dish.
3. Tiramisu is a French dessert.
4. There are more than 100 kinds of cheese in France.
5. Ratatouille is a famous Italian dish.

6. Olive oil is often used in Italian cooking.
7. Macarons are a type of French pasta.
8. French dishes are usually very simple.
9. Risotto is a traditional French food.
10. Both French and Italian cuisines are loved around the world.