

Entertainment Companies Fail to Compete with Fortnite

In a recent earnings report, Netflix, the media  that streams TV and movies to users around the world, claimed that Fortnite is one of its  competitors. Fortnite is a free-to-play, multiplayer video game that  money from in-game purchases. Over 200 million gamers of all ages have registered to play the game. The Fortnite phenomenon, or addiction as some have called it, is also causing financial problems for major video game  such as Electronic Arts and Take-Two Interactive.  Games, the maker of Fortnite, is now backed by major investors including Disney.