

Next month ,we are going on a family vacation. My mom and dad will drive us to the coast. The drive will take two days.

I will sit in the front and my brother will sit in the back. I will read the map and tell dad where to go. We will bring a tent and camp on the way.

We will visit new places and new cities. I will take lots of pictures and will share them on my social media with my friends. I won't hurry about it, I am going to share only one picture everyday.

We will swim in the ocean when we get there. I will collect shells and look for jellyfish. My brother and I will build sandcastles. I can't wait... it will be so fun!
