Skydiving for kids

Skydiving is a very dangerous sport. You fall for 3,000 meters from an airplane high in the sky. But skydiving has just gotten safer. Brandon Moore, 14, tells us why.

"I've always enjoyed doing exciting things. I've ridden a quad bike and I've done bungee jumping. But I've never done skydiving. I've enjoyed watching it since I was a child. My older sister has done six jumps—she's 17. But only people who are over 16 can skydive in my country.

"However, I've done something that's very similar. On my 13th birthday, my dad bought me tickets for 'indoor skydiving.' Have you heard of it? You go into a small room in a sports center. Then air comes up very fast under your body, and you lie on the air. Since that first experience, I've done it about 20 times. They've just opened an indoor skydiving center in a town near my house, so I go regularly."

1 Brandon enjoys sports that are

- (A) difficult. (B) exciting.

2 Brandon has never done

- (A) bungee jumping. (B) skydiving.

3 Brandon's sister is

- (A) older than him. (B) younger than him.

4 The new indoor skydiving center is

- (A) in Brandon's town. (B) near Brandon's town.
