Indicate whether the statement is true or false.

Read the story. Then read the sentences. Decide if the statement is T (true) or F (false).

The Mouse and the Bear

Here is an old story about a mouse and a bear. During the spring and summer, the bear played and sang all day, but the mouse worked very hard. He grew food and made his home for the winter. The bear said to the mouse, "I'm smarter and happier than you are. I'm having fun singing and playing." But when winter came, the bear was cold and hungry. He had no food or place to sleep. He went to the mouse for help. The mouse said, "You're more playful than I am, but I'm more intelligent. You must learn to be more clever." The mouse then shared some of his food with the bear. The bear learned his lesson and worked hard the next year to grow food and prepare for winter.
