A Lucky Escape in Galway

Last year, while I was travelling around Ireland, I had a strange experience in Galway. It was raining, and I was walking to the bus station when I realised I had lost my phone. I panicked and started looking everywhere.

While I was checking my pockets, a man was running down the street. He stopped and asked, "Are you looking for this?" He was holding my phone!

I couldn't believe it. I thanked him many times. While we were talking, another person almost stepped on my bag, which I had left on the ground. Luckily, nothing bad happened. It was a stressful day, but I felt very lucky in the end!
