Paradox or Oxymoron?

Paradox

A statement or proposition that seems self-contradictory or absurd but in reality expresses a possible truth.

Oxymoron

conjoining contradictory terms (as in 'deafening silence')

Paradox or Oxymoron?

1. Working Vacation
2. Act Naturally
3. Plastic Glasses
4. Jumbo Shrimp
5. Freezer Burn
6. Summer School
7. Definite Possibility
8. Civil War
9. You are Free to Choose, but you are Not Free from the Consequences of Your Choice!
10. We learn from history that which we do not learn from history.
11. Is this phrase a paradox or an oxymoron?
    Act I, Scene 1 Romeo: "brawling love, loving hate, feather of lead, bright smoke, cold fire, sick health"
12. Act I, Scene 1 Romeo refers to love: "a choking gall and a preserving sweet"
13. Act I , Scene 1 Romeo: "Misshapen chaos of well-seeming forms"
14. Act I, Scene 2 Lord Capulet: "Earth-treading stars"; "dark heaven"
15. Act I, Scene 5 Juliet: "my only love sprung from my only hate"
16. Act II, Scene 2 Juliet: "loving jealous "Romeo: "sweet sorrow"
17. Act II, Scene 6 Friar Lawrence: "violent delights"
18. Act III, Scene 2 Juliet: "Was ever a book containing such vile manner so fairly bound?"
19. Act V, Scene 3 Friar Lawrence: "I am the greatest yet able to do least"
20. Act V, Scene 3 Prince Escalus: "Capulet, Montague,See what a scourge is laid upon your hate That heaven finds the means to kill your joys with love."
21. I never found a companion that was as companionable as solitude.
22. Success is counted sweetest by those who ne'er succeeded.
23. Through dying we are given life.
24. Deep down you're really shallow.
25. This is the beginning of the end.
26. Ignorance is strength.
27. Easy problem
28. Seriously Funny

LIVEWORKSHEETS