Code Red

"Code Red" tells the story of Alex Cruz, a former special agent who has tried to put his past behind him. After years of working undercover and risking his life, Alex now lives in a quiet mountain town, fixing old cars and avoiding attention. But peace doesn't last long. One morning, he receives a message from an old contact: a dangerous criminal group known as The Black Fangs is threatening to release a deadly virus in several major cities.

Although Alex doesn't want to return to the field, he knows too much to walk away. He agrees to one last mission—this time working with Maya Torres, a new but talented agent. Maya is smart, quick, and asks a lot of questions. At first, Alex finds her annoying and inexperienced, but slowly, as the mission becomes harder, he starts to rely on her skills.

The group's leader, Viper, is cold and strategic. He never shows emotion and leaves no clues behind. The agents must travel across countries, solve encrypted codes, and survive surprise attacks. One scene takes place on a moving train where Alex and Maya fight off enemies while trying to stop a bomb. Another shows them sneaking into a heavily guarded laboratory in total silence, surrounded by danger on all sides.

In the final act, Viper reveals his true plan: he wants revenge for the death of his brother, who was once an agent too. Alex must face him alone in an abandoned factory, with only seconds left before the virus is released. The final battle is fast, dangerous, and full of tension. In the end, Alex manages to stop the virus—but not without paying a price.
