

Practice 56 Sentence Connectors

EXAMPLE	EXPLANATION
I would like to visit you. However , I will be very busy this summer.	Ideas within a paragraph can be connected by sentence connectors. These connectors show the relationship of ideas.
They wanted to go to Africa. However , they didn't have enough money. She didn't study at all. Nevertheless , she passed the test.	Sentence connectors that show contrast are however and nevertheless . These words are similar in meaning to but .
He is taking five classes this semester. In addition , he's working three nights a week. I want to graduate. Furthermore , I want to become a doctor.	Sentence connectors that add more information to the same idea are in addition , furthermore , and moreover . These words are similar in meaning to and .
They wanted to study English. Therefore , they went to Canada. They did not get along at all. As a result , they got divorced.	Sentence connectors that show a result or conclusion are therefore , as a result , and for this reason . These words are similar in meaning to so .
Language Note: Use either a period or a semicolon (;) before a sentence connector and use a comma after a sentence connector: She was laughing; however , she felt very sad inside.	