

I can help encourage others to respect people of different religion, culture, or beliefs. First, I speak kindly to everyone, no matter where they come from. I listen carefully when they talk about their traditions. I explain gently to my friends why we should not laugh at others. I also remind them politely to treat everyone fairly and peacefully. By doing these things, I show respect and help others do the same.

Answers:

I can help encourage others to respect people of different religion, culture, or beliefs. First, I speak kindly to everyone, no matter where they come from. I listen carefully when they talk about their traditions. I explain gently to my friends why we should not laugh at others. I also remind them politely to treat everyone fairly and peacefully. By doing these things, I show respect and help others do the same.